McGing Data

I'm listing here all the bits and pieces of McGing data I've come across. Perhaps some of this will ring a bell, you'll say "That's my family" or something and we can see how to make things fit. Most, but not necessarily all of this, will wind up on the web. Some things will be only here. I hate to make things difficult, but it's kind of like a drawer that you throw things in. Jumbled but at least basically organized.

One other reason for keeping this file is that if some of the sources that I have links to go down, I have no idea where else to get this data, so this hard copy is kind of my backup, just in case.

This is a work in progress.

Note that as I get new data I will add it to the beginning, so if you get the file, all you need to do is look at the beginning of the file or once it gets too big, I'll start a 2nd file, . Unless of course I find I must correct a mistake ☺

John

Sean Rua of Glenagosleen was John McGing, the strongest man in Scotland at one time. He left "Glan" around 1900 for Glasgow. He was about 50 years of age at the time, relict of the McGings of Glenmask/Croaghrim - the weavers. History tells me that a sack of flour in the 1900s was 12 stone weight. Sean Rua carried it from Tourmakeady without a rest to Glensgosleen. He could also stand talking to you if you met him without leaving the sack on the ground.

The ruins of the house still stands in the Glan. It was a storey and a half. There were 24 houses in the village at the time, now only 3 remain. It was a great village for the fairies and it still is today.

Michael P. McNeeley, in Waterfall Tuar Mhic Eadaigh Parish Magazine, 1998

One man's reminiscence of Life in Croaghrim in the 1930's

Here's to Croaghrim we will sing to the Friels and McGings,
Mulroy, Derrigs and two McNeely's
Govern in the Dell,
Coyne and Duffy both as well,
not forgetting the lace factory lillies

This poem was penned in the early part of the century and the village remained unchanged with the exception of the lace factory which had closed down before my time.

Mentioned in this story are Anthony McGing and Matt McGing.

Glenmask

There were 2 weavers in Glenmask, McGings and McNeeleys. The women would help each other at night, carding wool and spinning for the weavers. The McGings also kept a poultry station.

Why?: Being a McGing

Comment: I like your page. It has a lot of information. I am related to two McGing families. My grandmother was Mary McGing from Tonlegee, Aughagower. Her father was Tom McGing and her mother was Bridget Gavin from Arderry or Shraheen, I think. My great grandmother was Honor McGing from Churchfield. She married Mickey Gavin of Tonlegee. She had a brother Philip and sisters Jane and Mary? who both married Sheridans. I talked with my uncle John Gavin in June and he mentioned that his cousin Mary Lally of Tourmekeady called him up on occasion. Somebody just sent me a James McGing reference, also from Churchfield. Are you two tied together? Do we somehow match up? My uncle John says that we are no relation to the McGings on High Street in Westport.

Why?: Being a McGing

Comment: I think I am one of the "other" McGings in Chicago (although I don't live there now. My uncle John is probably the other Northside John McGing.

My father William was born near Tourkukady and latter moved east to a town called Parks in County Mayo. I believe this occurred during the major land changes during the 1930s. In the late 1940s he moved to Chicago, where he already had three sisters and two brothers living. His other siblings live primarily in Ireland and England. One of my cousins still runs the family farm in Parks.

I live in Saint Paul, Minnesota now although I visit Chicago as often as possible (though never enough).

Thank you for having this website. I would be interested if you have information on other McGing.

Article#16907 - Subject: GING from Ireland:Help!

From: Kathy Ging <kging@efn.org>

My name is Kathy Ging, my great-grandfather came from Ireland. Anyone have any research on GING name - it may have been O*Ging or McGing in Ireland. A friend just returned from Ireland and saw Ging*s Grocery in Kildare. My brother Ed in Pgh. has a coat of arms on his wall that says Ging was descendant from kings of Ireland and Spain. (I am dark Irish.) Motto was While I Breathe, I Hope.

My family comes from Pittsburg, PA. I live in Oregon now. I love to recite Yeats poetry. My dad, Edward Thomas Ging, had the unique habit of walking up to any stage and singing with the band! embarassing his family. His soul now rests near the blarney stone in the sky. This world needs more Irish visionary poets.

Body: Hello John.

I am a McGing too. My Grandfather arrived in Staffordshire in 1905 and the family has since grown in Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire, England. There are now many of us in this town. It is good to hear from a fellow McGing especially in Ireland.

I also have a brother named John McGing and I can not wait to show him your web page. As I recall, this part of the family has relatives in County Mayo. My grandfather was named Austin McGing, but unfortunately I never had the opportunity to meet him as he died before I was born.

I also have relatives in Kilkenny, which my father visited on occasion.

I hope that you can share any information relating to the family as the McGing's in Stoke-on-Trent have had great trouble tracing the family tree.

Hows the Guinness?

Hi John,
Looking through old e-mail, it occurred to me that I never replied to your message to me in May 98 - how's that for "snail mail" !!!! Anyway, since New Zealand last year, we've been around most of Europe, and this comes to you from Copenhagen, Denmark - next stop is Japan for three weeks! Glad you enjoyed Riverdance at Wolf Trap, that production is currently in Chicago. Is the "Mary T. McGing" mentioned in your mailing list your cousin from Cincinnati (TCRG)? - if so, I must get in touch, as I think she knows our lead dancer here, Brendan De Galli.

We too are from the Westport area - my dad John (Jack) McGing was from Ayle - close to Tourmekeady! His brother Doonie McGing for years owned McGing's bar and grocery shop at Ayle - he is now retired, but still lives in Ayle, and is somewhat of an authority on the McGing family tree! Another locally well-known relation(great uncle) was Dan McGing of the Bridge St, Westport bar and shop - and it's now very well known as "Matt Molloy's" (Chieftans fiddler)!!

No more McGing news for now, so until the next time...

By the way, found your web site very interesting - keep up the good work!

Hi,

I stumbled upon your web site while looking for family history items. Are you the McGing from Maryland that once contacted Kathy McGing from the Cleveland, Ohio area? She mentioned that she had been contacted by a McGing from Maryland.

Kathy and I met while researching our roots. Her Burke ancestors are connected to my Connelly ancestors. Bridget Joyce Connelly was a sister of Honorah (or Annie) Joyce Burke. Honorah's daughter, Mary, married a Michael McGing and later lived in Sharpsville, PA. (I believe they were married in Scotland since Bridget and Honorah were both married in Scotland (but born in Ireland, possibly County Mayo).

Any connection?

Jean

MICHAEL McGING [mmcging@tinet.ie]

Hi John.

Thanks for your two e-mails. I will be happy to try and contact the other members of your Family over the weekend.

I figured out your relations before you sent me your e-mail. My Dad Dan Mc Ging had a pub and Grocery Shop on Bridge Street in Westport and some years after his death I sold the pub to Matt Mulloy of the "Chieftains" and I now live right next store in our other shop.

I knew Mick Lalys father well as he was an occasional customer to us when we had the shop. I too have relations in Tourmacady namely Pdraig Henaghan and his sister Sara Power. Pdraig lives in "Treen" and Sara lives in Churchfield.

The Henaghans and I are related to each other through our Grandmothers who were Gavins and came from "Bohaun" across the other side of the hill from Tourmacady and we could well be related though far out on the Mc Ging side.

I will talk with you later.

Michael.

It just so happens that my family are also from Tourmakeady/Westport. in fact a place called croaghrim Grandfather's name being Anthony McGing and Grandmother's maiden name Mary Kate McGing

hello again this is damion

the strange thing is that as me father told me there were 10 famlies callied McGing in a place called glenmask (where the grand mother is from all non related) so there is good odds.

not in being related directly but maybe distantly.
